

ROSE WERNICKE

Rose Wernicke serves as President of the Board of the Indianapolis Propylaeum. She is an Independent History Consultant with a Master's degree in Public History.

Rose began her career as an accountant and later followed her passion for historic architecture and local history by pursuing a career in historic preservation. These interests led to her thesis, "The Farmland Opera House: Culture, Identity, and the Corn Contest."

Rose has held positions at the Indiana Historical Society, Indiana Supreme Court's Education and Outreach Program, and the Indiana State House Capitol Tour Office. She has also worked in small towns throughout Indiana on Downtown Revitalization studies and writing National Register Nominations.
